Dear Madam,

Re: Property Law Review

Thank you for referring your Consultation Paper to the Australia Institute of Conveyancers (Victorian Division) (AIC) for comment.

The aims of the Review of the Property Law Act 1958 are commendable and long overdue. All Acts should be written in plain, simple language without exceptions. It is also important that any new Act, insofar as it is possible, takes advantage of an opportunity for harmonisation of Acts throughout Australia.

Most of the areas discussed in the Review are highly technical and the AIC does not have the time or resources to make a lengthy submission. However, we appreciate being advised of the Review and look forward to receiving information regarding the further Review being undertaken on Easements and Covenants.

Yours faithfully,

Jill Ludwell CPC
