Hi I had been a victim of stalking for many years the outcome of this had ended in the stalker harming me. Her stalking created fear for myself & family plus friends that allowed me to take a blind eye approach to the persons stalking me trying ignore what the shall kj r was doing. If I could say one thing about stalking is if it feels like a uncomfortable feeling towards you or family and friends question t that person behaviour you must report it to either police ...go psychologist to help with talking through dark times..stalking behaviour is a form of manipulation. Happy chat about my experience
