I would like the stalking laws changed because I believe the current laws don't prevent a mentally ill or obsessed person from injuring or killing someone.

Laws should be passed to give the police powers to arrest and hold a stalker and if need be imprison them. The offender should be made to wear an ankle bracelet on release until it is determined that they are psychologically fit to have it removed.

I don't believe restraining orders work as most offenders are mentally unstable and will do anything to get to the person they are obsessed with.
